

How one machine can put more customers in your store,
more money in your bottom line.

Do the math. Make the call.

Let's review: one machine in your store, operating at a low 40% capacity will allow you to double your investment in one year. If you promote the machine just a little bit and run at just 45% capacity, you could easily triple your investment in one year.

The Revolutionary Filling Machine.

The RYO Filling Station offers smoke shop owners the opportunity to capture more RYO customers, gain a unique advantage over competitors and, best of all, generate great profits.

RYO is the fastest growing segment in the tobacco outlet business and is about to get even bigger with the introduction of the revolutionary RYO Filling Station from RYO Machines. There is no other product like it on the market. With the RYO Filling Station, customers can roll their own in your store in 8 minutes. They will love the speed and convenience. You'll love the profits.

It's a money machine.

Talk about quick return on investment, the RYO Filling Station will typically provide an incredible 200% ROI in the first year of use, running at only 40% capacity. No other tobacco related product in your store can match the revenues and margins that the RYO Filling Station provides.

Stores with the RYO Filling Station are typically reporting daily revenue increases of $500 per store. You will make money if only five customers a day use the machine.

And a speed demon.

The machine is a true speedster—customers can easily use this machine in about 8 minutes, compared to 2-3 hours at home. And operating the RYO Filling Station is remarkably simple—for your personnel and for your customers. Everything is done via a series of touch-screen directions.

Customers will look for your store.

Having a RYO Filling Station turns your shop into a destination. Customers will seek out your store because of the machine. Once in your store, they will not only pay to use your machine, they'll also be buying tobacco, tubes and other ancillary products. It all adds up to some big fat numbers.

Competitive exclusivity.

Each RYO Filling Station purchase comes with a guaranteed exclusive territory designated solely to your business. We will not sell a machine to any competitors within your territory. You can literally corner the RYO market in your area. How good is that for your bottom line?

Training, support and service at your service.

When you have an RYO Filling Station in your store, you also get complete support and service. Comprehensive service manuals, on-site technical support, on-site training, DVD tutorials and a customer tech support hot line will ensure that your machine will keep on humming time after time.
